Seriously Involved

OUR PROGRAMS

SpeakEasy believes in the power of community and in the power of stories to inspire and change lives. Through our educational outreach programs, we foster new connections between writers and readers by bringing the literary arts into public schools, after-school programs, and under-resourced neighborhoods.

House of SpeakEasy

SpeakTogether

Partners with public schools and youth organizations, such as Fordham High for the Arts in The Bronx and Union Settlement in East Harlem, to connect writers with young college-hopefuls, delivering a range of dynamic programming for teens.

SpeakFreely

Provides high school teachers with free tickets to Seriously Entertaining shows as well as creative arts curricula inspired by our author talks, allowing them to experience first-hand the power of storytelling and adopt our materials for their classrooms.

Bookmobile

Delivers free books, backpacks, and art-making supplies to "book deserts"—areas without bookstores and where access to libraries is limited—engaging youth and their families by encouraging them to build their own at-home libraries.
